

THE DRAMA.

In the local dramatic world, this week, observation will find but little need to exercise its extended view. Not much is promised. The field may briefly be reviewed. Yet the programme is made up of pleasant features; and, as it includes the Fourth of July, it will, without doubt, pass smoothly off, and prove to be very agreeable.

"The Golden Egg" will be presented to-night, for the first time this season, at Niblo's Garden. It is one of the best of the Ravel pantomimes. "Kim-ka," a favorite ballet, will likewise be given, and young America will, as usual, perform on the trapeze. Young America, by the way, takes his Bonetti to-morrow evening. Francis Ravel will take a Bonetti to-morrow evening.

Friday. On Saturday there will be a matinee. The present is the last week but one of the Raveis at this theater. "The Colleen Bawn" will be acted to-night and to-morrow night, at Wallack's Theater; but on the Fourth will give place to "Ireland As It Was" and "Handy Andy." "Pochontas" will keep the stage of the Winter Garden till the end of the present week. "The Nervous Man or the Man of Nerve" will be performed each evening, as a prelude to the Bourgeois. Next Monday Mr. Brougham's "Columbus Re-

"Aurora Floyd" will be acted to-night, for the first time, as at the Olympic. The piece is understood to be a new one. Everybody may be presumed to know the novel wherewith it has been drawn. At least two versions of it have been presented on the New-York stage within the last four years. Mrs. Emily Jordan, Mr. Frank Lawlor, Mr. George Clarke, Mrs. Saunders, and other players—several of them new to this theatre—will appear in the Olympic. Mrs. Crampton ably—will appear to-night at the Olympic. Mr. Wood presides here now. Mr. Selwyn being the Acting Manager. The latter gentleman, by the way, is to hold the position of Stage Director, next season, at Wallick's.)

Mrs. Wood said Good-Bye on Saturday evening. A public presentation of a beautiful watch was made to her upon the occasion, on this occasion. "Cool as a Cucumber," "A Loan of a Lover," and "Jenny Lind," constituted the farewell performance, which passed off very pleasantly. Mrs. Wood, as our readers probably know, proposes to visit England. The public

"She Would Be a Soldier." Is the dramatic attraction of the week, at Barnum's Museum. It will be played every afternoon and evening, and on the Fourth of July will be played all the time. The present week is announced as the last week of the dramatic season at this theater. We hear that a new company will be collected here, in the Autumn, Mr. C. W. Clarke being stage manager and Mr. Milos Levick having the lead.

"Fra Diavolo" will be performed for the first time at Wood's Theater this evening. Miss Sophie Worrell will play Fra Diavolo; Miss Irene will play Zerlina; and Miss Jennie will play Lady Al-Cash. Mr. Luffingwell is cast as Beppo. This burlesque has always been a favorite, and we judge that it will be very well played at this theater. Mr. Barton Hill will enact the Hon. Sam Singsby in "Pröber Sam," as an introductory entertainment. Matinees are to be Open on Wednesday and Saturday. "Little Red-Riding Hood" and "El-Hyder" are to be acted at the Old Bowery Theater to-night and to-morrow night. A couple of special bills have been arranged for the Fourth, when there will be a day performance at 2 o'clock and an evening performance at 3. Mr. G. C. Howard and Mr. W. Fryer will take a benefit on Thursday evening, and that performance will close Mr. Fox's regular season. Sandford's Opera Troupe, from Philadelphia, is to commence operations

A new piece, described as a "magnificent tableau," is to be produced to-night at the New Bovey Theater—a new fruit, doubtless, of the fertile invention of Mr. Schonberg. Its title is, "The Battle of the Amazons, The Watchers, and The Queen of Flowers." A comic pantomime, "When the Cat's Away the Mice will Play," is also to be presented. The Balsay Brothers will perform their Niagara leap, and other feats; a new dancer and tight-rope performer, Senorita Rosita, will make her first appearance here; and Monsieur Henri Agostini

We note that the Buell Family propose to give an exhibition on the Fourth of July at Elm Park. A trapeze ascension, on a fire-balloon, is the chief feature of the programme as announced. It will be sufficiently perilous, we dare say, to please the multitude.

Christy's Minstrels enter to-night upon the last week of their season. The Fifth Avenue Opera House will be kept in a very lively condition for the next six days we may be sure.

The Fourth of July performances are to be especially piquant. Mr. George Christy has a benefit on Saturday. Señor Charlin's Spanish Circus has brought back activity and mirth to the lately deserted tent, on Fourteenth st. His company is an uncommonly large one, and comprises many clever performers. The Cuba children, Ethiopian Equestrians, attract much attention. Signor Sebastian, a bare-back rider, emulates the feats of Mr. James Robinson. Trained horses and ponies participate in the enter-

Mr. F. D. Denny, the new tragedian, has been quite successful at Mrs. Conway's Park Theater, in Brooklyn. He will play Claude Melnotte this evening and Romeo to-morrow, and will appear in two characters on the Fourth of July.

An item of very pleasant theatrical news shall close this preliminary sketch of the dramatic week. Madam Ristori is to appear at the new French Theater on the 16th of next September—the enterprise being under the management of Mr. Grau, who will subsequently play in other cities of the Union.

MUSICAL.

ENGLISH OPERA.—FRENCH THEATRE.

This evening the English Opera Company will perform, in addition to Mr. Eicbberg's pleasant trifles, "A Night in Rome," another composition by Mr. Eicbberg, called "The Two Caddis," which is very highly spoken of. The English Opera season is drawing to a close, which is to be regretted, so we hope that the public will sustain it liberally to the end, or it well deserves a generous patronage.

THEODORE THOMAS'S SUMMER CONCERTS.

These concerts continue to increase in popularity, attracting devoted audiences composed of our best citizens, who visit Terrace Garden night after night to enjoy the cool air and the really beautiful and varied music which Mr. Thomas's fine orchestra furnishes in such liberal quantities. It is the only resort where one can keep cool and at the same time enjoy the harmless luxury of delicious music. These concerts take place every evening.

FASHIONS.

Fashion, to whom the fair sex in every clime yield such implicit obedience, has introduced another novelty in ladies' dress which will soon, doubtless, become the leading style. Like all the other vagaries of Fashion this comes to us with the stamp of Parisian transfiguration. In its introduction to our New-York bellies the house of J. J. Higgins & Co., Broadway and Sixth-ave., have outstripped all competition. The ones imposed upon the latest style of hats which have turned the heads of half the women of Paris and threaten to become all the "rage" in the Empire city, are the "Gladiator," the "Eugenie," the "Clarissa," and the "Augusta." The first-named brilliant affair is made of straw and trimmed with Toman resplendante. The "Eugenie," which vies with it in elegance, has a round crown drooping heavily before and behind, but perfectly straight at the sides. It is bound and trimmed with azure blue velvet.

Trimmed with black lace and ornamented with a purple breast hemming, and a bird with a long, white, willow tume. The "Clurise" is made of black Neapolitan looped up on either side, trimmed with black lace, and jet fringe, with a bird's wing and sweeping willow feather on the right side. The Auguste, a most enchanting specimen of head dress, has a round crown with a maroon-colored drooping rim bound and trimmed with bands of velvet of the same hue, while a beautiful bird droops off behind. Ingenuity can source device after device, and still there, the beholder, can amaze himself.

The Garnet League, an organization composed of colored people, whose object is the education and elevation of the Freedmen in the Southern States, by sending among them industrious and cultivated colored men and women as instructors, appeal to the public for pecuniary aid in their reformatory work. The statements given to the public by the officers of the League, concerning its purposes and its claims upon the people, are heartily indorsed by Gov. CARM, Hon. Simon Cameron, Hon. J. J. Pearson, Gen. Wm. H. Miller, and many other well-known citizens. All communications pertaining to the business of the League should be addressed to the Corresponding Secretary, P. O. Box 121, Harrisburg, Pa.
